Polarity is the state of having two opposite or contradictory tendencies, opinions, or aspects. Experience the push and pull of Remy Katz' and Gleimi De Jesus' work and the questions they leave you with at New College of Florida's Fall 2023 Thesis Art Exhibition,

POLARITY, in which two art students have curated and displayed both final and developing thesis work. Artwork featured in the exhibition encompasses various mediums, including sculpture, video, installations, and emerging technology; highlighting people's relationships with themselves, others, and their environment.

Gleimi De Jesus invites the viewer to use her work as a tool to generate change in artificial settings and situations that she creates. Focusing on the impact that people have on each other and the space they are in, results in a balance.

Manipulating the world of obsolete technology to present an absurdist world draped in the macabre, Remy Katz tells compelling stories in the realm of Spontaneity, absurdist humor, and horror. Through a series of films, displayed in both the physical and digital worlds, an unpredictable narrative is told.

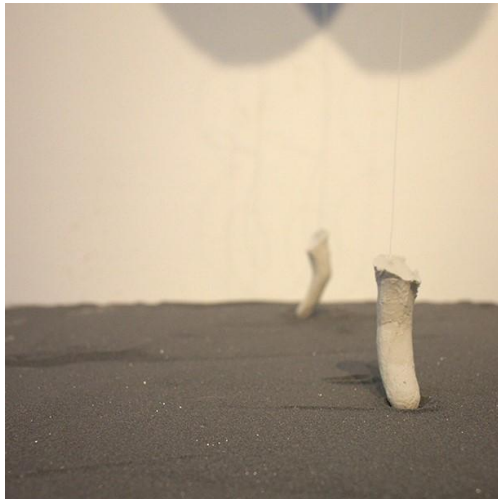

The exhibition is accompanied by a zine, designed and written by these students. This year's exhibition zine and the opening reception were made possible by Remy Katz and Gleimi De Jesus.

The public reception for the exhibition is on Thursday, November 30th in the Isermann Gallery, and the exhibition is open to visitors through December 8th, Monday through Friday, 12 - 5 PM.

There will be a limited number of zines for free at the exhibition opening brought to you by Remy Katz and Gleimi De Jesus.
